

Homeopathic treatment of Fever

Dr. Didier GRANDGEORGE , Decembre 2014

Fever is a very common symptom, especially with children

Shall we fight fever with antithermic allopathic? Yes if we do not find rapidly an efficient homeopathic remedy and if the fever is above 38.5 deg C, and in the cases of poorly tolerated fever. Before 6 years old, there is a risk of convulsion due to the fever.

Sometimes, the fever is a symptom of serious deceases that should be suspected if:

- Intense fever (above 40 deg C)
- Fever that does not respond after one hour to antitermic like Paracetamol.

Associated signs of severity

- Poor general condition, delirium, photophobia, vomiting, stiff neck, seizures are suspicion for meningitis: in this case to go quickly to the nearest hospital
- Grand chills, fever peaks, back pain, urinary tract burns could be a pyelonephritis: seek early medical advices.
- Cough, vultueux face, shortness of breath, flaring nose make suspecting pneumonia: This require prompt medical attention.

Usually mild and moderate fever is transient viral infections that homeopathy can quickly stop, that's what we intend in this article.
